Installation

Installation occurs via the single installation .exe.

After starting the installation process, you will be advised that this is a two-stage installation:

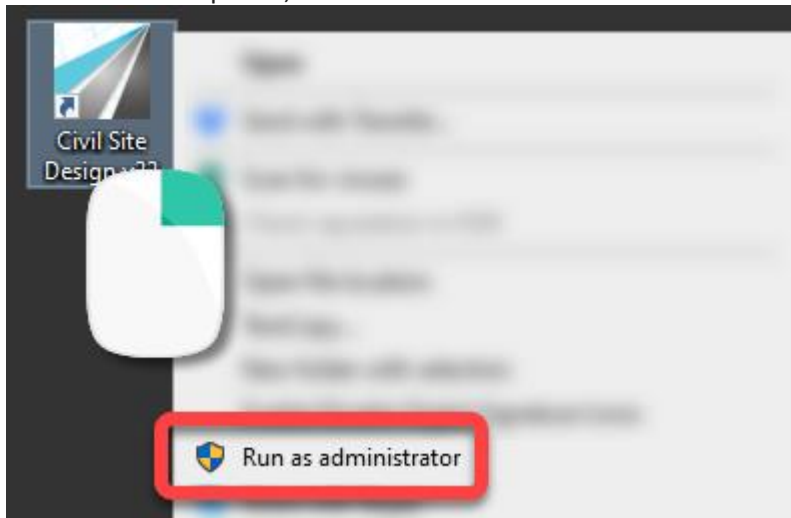

1. Firstly, Civil Site Design files are installed, then
2. Another installation interface will display to install the AutoCAD OEM components. Click Install to proceed

Following installation, you will find the program Civil Site Design Plus has been installed and should include a shortcut to run the software.

First Time Running the Software – IMPORTANT NOTE

The first time Civil Site Design Plus is run after the installation, it will need to be run in administrator mode to set up the license. This is simple to do:

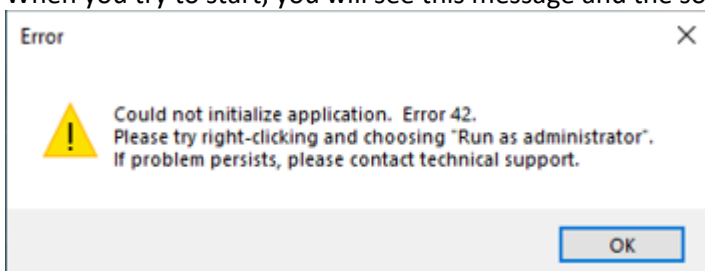

- Right-click on the program icon (shortcut) from the Windows screen
- From the list of options, choose 'Run as Administrator'

This only needs to be done once. After that, you can open via double click or other method.

What if you don't run in Administrator mode?

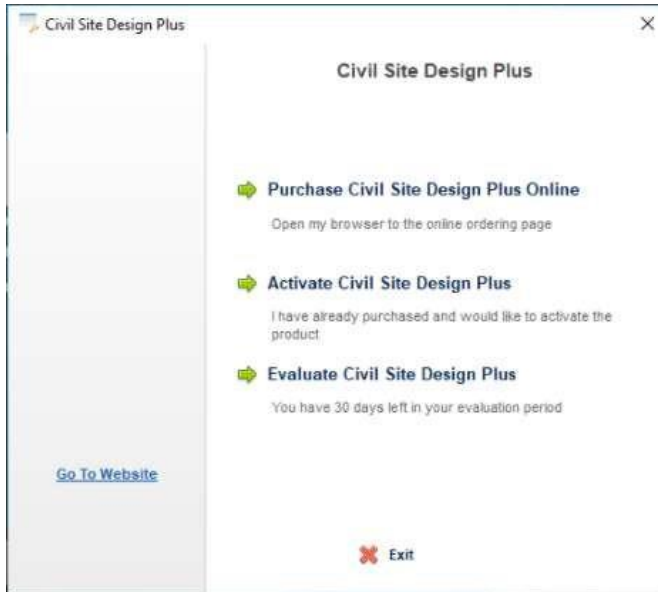

When you try to start, you will see this message and the software will not open:
